

Dom Collins

Description

A fantastic, 'family' comic who would never offend any audience, Dom has a show full of gags, wise cracks, one-liners, funny observations and so much more. He is not mainstream, new-age, alternative and certainly not blue... He is a genuinely funny guy with a fun show.

From a lifetime in comedy song writing, Dom has become a dab-hand at penning original, topical, sometimes cynical, and always enjoyable funny songs. Some of his ditties include "Stuck Here in Lidl with You", "A Girl Called Chips", "Viagra", "Granddads Don't Do Nappies" and many more. These wonderful songs can work in his 'Stand-Up' show, just as well as in his 'Comedy and Covers' show, where Dom also blasts out some well-known pop classics – right up to present-day chart hits.

With his all-encompassing, super-fast and free-flowing wit, Dom is an excellent choice as an event host / compere. Given enough advance warning, he can also pen a song or two to really enhance the event.

Rest assured that whichever show or guise of Dom's you choose, you will be booking a serious professional who will make your audience laugh and cheer – and your event go with a bang!
